

Dear Guests!

We proudly present our wide range of shore excursions. A cruise's biggest advantage is the possibility of visiting many different fascinating places with a floating hotel. Look forward to unforgettable impressions of cultures, histories and sceneries. Choose between e.g. interesting coach tours and active hikes!

You can find the descriptions and information of the planned shore excursions below. You have the opportunity to reserve a spot for your excursion prior the cruise. Of course it is possible to add excursions to your booking on board (depending on availability).

Please contact us for binding reservation by email, fax or by post. The payment of the shore excursion will be on board in USD.

Please note that only one shore excursion per port of call is bookable in advance – EXCEPTION: Husavik and Seydisfjordur. The possible excursion combination is marked with a *. ATTENTION! The shore excursions marked with  will not be offered for cruises 180D12 and 180D14. The port of Siglufjordur will not be approached cruise 180D14.

Enjoy your trip!

General Information Shore Excursions

Quality of the bus

The busses in Iceland have a good technical standard. Anyhow it has to be pointed out that the busses are operated on extreme driving and weather conditions. Especially when crossing the highlands the vehicles are heavily loaded and this can be seen at the outward appearance.

Dust development in the busses while driving gravel tracks can't be avoided. Toilets are not available on the busses but enough stops are scheduled at each tour.

Guides

All shore excursions organized by us take place in English. Every now and then, however, it can happen that a bilingual excursion (in German & English language) takes place. All our guides are experienced, communicate a lot about country and people and are in constant contact with our service office in Reykjavik.

Itinerary

Strong winds, snow or even rain can affect the route of our excursions. The course of the tour and the planned stops are followed as far as possible due to weather and road conditions. Sometimes it can even happen that parts of a street or entire streets are blocked. We must reserve the right to make changes.

Changes/Cancellations through Iceland ProCruises GmbH

Due to weather and sea conditions, number of participants or cancellation by local service provider, Iceland ProCruises, has the right to change the prices, duration and content of the excursions or even cancel them. Please note that the order of the sights may vary from the description due to high traffic volumes or other organizational reasons.

Min/Max

Shows the minimum and maximum number of participants for an excursion. If minimum numbers are not reached we may cancel the excursion on short notice.
